General Dentistry. The major duties of successful applicants include pre-clinical, clinical, and didactic teaching of all aspects of general dentistry at the dental student and general practice resident levels. Additional responsibilities involve supporting the school's compliance with SBU, SBM and SDM best practices, demonstrating growth in pedagogical skills and an aptitude for scholarship, serving on select school committees, engaging in school governance, and participating in the school's affiliated faculty practice.

Opportunities to further develop or refine teaching skills are offered at the university's Center for Excellence in Learning and Teaching <https://www.stonybrook.edu/celt/>. The potential to earn a Master's in Higher Education Administration (MHEA) <https://www.stonybrook.edu/spd/hea/> is also available and viewed favorably for those willing to make the effort.

Individuals should possess excellent interpersonal and communication skills and a desire to create an environment that develops strong and supportive relationships with faculty, staff, students and residents, and promotes collegiality, collaboration, and cultural diversity among members of various education, research, and service communities. A willingness to serve as a role model and advocate for the ideals of professionalism and high ethical standards in a health science educational setting is essential.
