Description

The School of Dental Medicine (SDM) at Stony Brook University (SBU) is seeking applications for a full-time (12-month), tenured faculty appointment at the rank of Full or Associate Professor in the Department of Orthodontics and Pediatric Dentistry. The position reports directly to the Dean of the School of Dental Medicine and is a member of its Executive Committee. Major administrative and leadership responsibilities for the department include recruitment, scheduling, and development and evaluation of staff and faculty. The chair ensures department goals are in alignment with the strategic plans of the school, Stony Brook Medicine (SBM) and the university. The chair is responsible for the management of financial, space, and equipment resources of the department, and has oversight of dental student and orthodontic/pediatric dentistry resident curriculum and clinical operations. Other duties involve supporting the school's compliance with SBU, SBM and SDM best practices; continuing research and scholarly endeavors; serving on select school committees; engaging in school, university and professional dental organization governance; connecting with and cultivating department alumni; and participating in the school's affiliated faculty practice.

Applicants should possess excellent interpersonal and communication skills and a desire to create an environment that develops strong and supportive relationships with students, residents, staff and faculty. The successful candidate will be expected to promote collegiality, collaboration, and cultural diversity among members of various education, research, and service communities. An understanding of, and experience in, working within a complex educational, service, and research organizational structure is necessary. A willingness to serve as a role model and advocate for the ideals of professionalism and high ethical standards in a health science educational setting is essential.

Salary, administrative augmentation and academic rank are commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Stony Brook University is a premier employer that provides exceptional rewards, including start-up packages and medical, dental, and vision benefits, as well as professional development funds and relocation assistance. The university's competitive salaries and benefits packages include generous retirement plans and tuition assistance for employees, wellness initiatives, and more. Long Island's premier academic medical center, Stony Brook Medicine, represents Stony Brook University's entire medical enterprise and integrates all of Stony Brook's health-related initiatives: education, research and patient care. It encompasses Stony Brook University Hospital, Stony Brook Children's Hospital, the five Health Sciences schools -- Dental Medicine, Health Professions, Medicine, Nursing and Social Welfare -- as well as the major centers and institutes, programs and more than 50 community-based healthcare settings throughout Suffolk County. With 624 beds, Stony Brook University Hospital serves as Suffolk County's only tertiary care center and Regional Trauma Center. Stony Brook Children's, with more than 180 pediatric specialists in 30 specialties, offers the most advanced pediatric specialty care in the region. In the Medical and Research Translation (MART) building, two floors are occupied by Stony Brook University Cancer Center's outpatient services, and four floors are devoted to cancer research. Diversity, equity and inclusion are essential core values at Stony Brook Medicine. We believe we do our best and most impactful work when we leverage our diverse, equitable and inclusive perspectives. We are proud to recruit and hire talented people from a wide variety of backgrounds and experiences.

The selected candidate must successfully clear a background investigation.
