Job Description

The Ellmer College of Health Sciences at Old Dominion University (ODU) invites qualified candidates to apply for a clinical assistant professor faculty position in the Gene W. Hirschfeld School of Dental Hygiene. This is a full-time, 10-month, non-tenure eligible clinical track position. ODU, located in the city of Norfolk in the metropolitan Hampton Roads region of coastal Virginia, is a state-assisted, Carnegie R1 institution that serves its students and enriches the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world through rigorous academic programs, strategic partnerships, and active civic engagement. Its 23,000+ students include nearly 6,000 graduate students throughout several academic colleges. Through a collaborative and innovative approach to education and research, the University focuses on student learning and addresses critical needs in the professions. ODU's programs are offered on the main campus, at higher education centers in the region, and at numerous distance learning sites. ODU offers a competitive package of salary and benefits.

As a member within the Ellmer College of Health Sciences and the Macon and Joan Brock Virginia Health Sciences, the School of Dental Hygiene offers undergraduate and graduate programs, including a Bachelor of Science in Dental Hygiene (entry-level and online post-licensure) and a Master of Science in Dental Hygiene (on-campus, and online). Our new, state-of-the-art facilities offer a 24-unit simulation lab, dental materials lab, dental hygiene research center, and on-campus 36-chair Dental Hygiene Care Facility. Annually, our students provide oral preventive care services to nearly 2,000 patients. Incoming faculty will be expected to maintain an active program of teaching, scholarship, and service for both undergraduate and graduate level programs, which includes mentoring graduate students in research. Further information about the School of Dental Hygiene is available online at <http://www.odu.edu/dental>.
